BASARELL CLUB HOLDS MEETING

A general meeting was held Saturday night in Murre's barber shop. Although the attendance was small a good meeting took place. Last year's business was cleared up with a small amount in the bank.

It was decided to form a baseball club for this year and the following officers were elected:

President, R. M. Stalinski.
Sec-Treas, Roy Gamble.
Manager, Harold Dunn.
Any players wishing to try out will report to the manager and turn out for practice.

"Cappy Ricks," at Opera House Saturday

Matt Peasley, a New England seaman, landed in San Francisco and ships as mate on one of the freighters of the Blue Star Line, a company with vessels on the seven seas.

The soul of the navigation company is Cappy Ricks, former sea dog and present financier—impatient and perhaps a little domineering. Cappy's passion for the sea and his ships is transcended only by his love for his daughter, Florie, a young lady who has a penchant for getting what she wants when she wants it.

Florie and a friend are selling tags on the streets of San Francisco to get money for Sailor's King Harbor, a warship's secret. The secret tags and his pen, Murphy, who buy tags and are about to leave when a sneak thief steals Florie's purse and flees. He is suspected by Peasley who returns the purse after beating the crook.

Peasley and Murphy sail for the South Sea on one of Cappy's ships and the captain is slain by savages. Matt takes command, as first mate, and brings his craft into a civilized port where he rescues word from Cappy that he is sending an older man to bring back the boat to San Francisco.

When the new captain, a burly Swede known as "All Hands and Feet" arrives and attempts to wrest the command of the ship from Peasley he is thoroughly thrashed by Matt who takes the ship back to Frisco where he finds Cappy furious at this disobedience of his orders. To add to Cappy's rage, Florie decides the love Matt and that she will marry him and none other. Cappy had hoped his daughter would marry Skinner, manager of the navigation company, and to throw the two into closer proximity takes them on a cruise up the Pacific coast.

Word that the mate is fondling off the rocks, its rubber gun, comes by wireless, and Matt, Murphy and "All Hands and Feet" set out on to rescue them in a harbor tug. The rescue is effected under tremendous difficulties, and immediately brings Cappy to a better understanding of Matt Peasley's ability. He signs with satisfaction when Matt and Florie announce their engagement.

COMING EVENTS

BUY A FLAG AT COST

In order that all may show their patriotism and have flags in plenty to do it with the Board of Trade has appointed a committee to assist in procuring plenty of them. This committee has made arrangements whereby anyone applying to The Call office may purchase any size they desire at cost. It is necessary to leave your order as no flags will be purchased without definite instructions.

CALL WILL OBSERVE MAY 21TH

Next Wednesday being Victoria Day and a Dominion holiday the Call staff will duly observe it and will publish day earlier—Tuesday.

In order to do this we request that all ads in this office by Saturday noon—thank you kindly in anticipation of the favor.

ARROWOOD NEWS

With these beautiful days your correspondent has come to life again and here is the latest news from Arrowood.

Mr. Duncan had the misfortune to see his 10 and buggy shed and its contents by fire, last Sunday.

A program was rendered at the church on Mother's Day, which was enjoyed by all.

Little Edna, daughter of Mr. Earl, is home again after being in the Gleichen Private Hospital, for treatment several days last week.

Mrs. Leont, of Beiseker, is visiting Mrs. M. C. Miller this week.

Born—a girl to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde, at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, May 4th.

The Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. Bowman, May 18th.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart visited friends in Gleichen last Sunday.

Mrs. R. Williams returned from Calgary Saturday, where she has been for some time having her baby treated.

Grasshopper Eggs Very Numerous

According to the reports received by the Department grasshopper eggs are very numerous in many parts of the southern and central areas of the province. The latest report for organization comes from near Wainwright.

No false security should be felt by the farmers that the wet weather will result in killing of the hoppers.

E. H. Strickland, who is in charge of the field work for the Department of the campaign, states that contrary to the popular impression, this season has been about the worst possible for hatching of hoppers.

That the warm weather has delayed the hatching of eggs until now there is no possibility of a late spring from killing off the hoppers after the warm weather has hatched them. Had the weather come early, the eggs would have hatched out, and a late frost would have killed many of them.

This possibility has passed now, so that the warm weather now coming will hatch the hoppers out in greater numbers than ever. For this reason farmers should be on the alert more than ever for them.

Farmers and municipalities are entering heartily into the game of organizing to combat the pest.

At the recent Fire Brigade, where organized effort has been carried on against the hoppers for the past two years, hoppers have been seen in the extent of 5000 per square foot in places, compared with about 2000 in previous years, which gives some idea of how the pest is likely to develop this year.

Mrs. L. Cuthbert has been but is now able to get out again.

HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Last Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock the fire alarm announced that the house of L. Donenworth was on fire and the fire brigade and citizens generally responded promptly and succeeded in doing some excellent work.

Autos hauled the two chemical engines to the scene, while others brought on the fire trucks and although every available foot of hose was required to reach the burning building and had to be dragged across the street, over fences and in one instance hauled over a stable, yet in remarkably good time a stream of water was pouring onto the burning building.

It was hardly reported that the fire was under control, but as the wind was blowing from the west, it did not but the fire started in the kitchen and had burnt out the side it was impossible to save anything from the second floor, and Mrs. Donenworth and family were left with very little household goods, but were soon housed in P. Haumann's house and the Gleichen Private Hospital.

The following day the Red Cross ladies were very busy sewing and doing everything possible to aid the family in making a fresh start.

All the furniture on the first floor of the burning building was carried out safely but the fire started in the kitchen and had burnt out the side it was impossible to save anything from the second floor, and Mrs. Donenworth's boy was on the second floor and Mrs. Walsh made several attempts to find him and was finally driven out by the smoke. The little fellow was finally found in the back and happily making mud pies.

The burned building was erected by W. H. McPhee about ten years ago and was valued at $10,000.

The property still is held by Mrs. Gillespie. It is said that no insurance was carried on the building or contents.

The Gleichen Beavers of the Union S.S. will hold their first sale of work and home cooking on Saturday, May 20th, at 3 p.m. in George Matthews' store.

Any person who desires to help the girls by making a contribution to the home cooking sale, please phone the store and the parcel will be called for.

About half a million bushels of seed oats were shipped out of Alberta to other parts of the Dominion the past year, according to officials of the Dominion Seed Branch, which is an indication of how the province has become famed for its production of seed. The shipments were found to be particularly free of weed seeds. The provincial department of agriculture, through its recently appointed field crop commissioner, W. J. Stephens, is planning an extensive campaign for the encouragement of seed production, with the co-operation of the University of Alberta and the

GLEICHEN, ALTA., WEDNESDAY, MAY 17, 1922

How Tunes Change at Times.

A year ago it was with difficulty 250 feet of new hose was procured. At the fire this day week everyone was howling for a few more feet of hose. What the Gleichen Fire Brigade now most requires is more hydrants. The amount of hose now on hand is about all the boys can conveniently handle. More hose would mean more couplings and that means more time lost at a critical moment. Of course, if the finances will not permit then more hose will have to be procured. Now when everyone is talking fire is a good time to settle this question and not wait until something more serious happens. Keep on talking.

Every person had an opportunity at the fire last week to see for themselves just what all the talk about the Boy Scouts means, but he it remembered this is only one of the many things the movement aims at and is accomplishing. We take the greatest pleasure in complimenting the Gleichen Boy Scouts on their splendid work at the fire, of which their scout master, Corp. Harper, may feel justly proud. The boys worked hard and their efforts were properly directed. Those who saw them at work in future will be ready with a good word for the boys and will doubtless encourage them whenever the opportunity may arise.

The work of our volunteer Fire Brigade and citizens generally at the fire last week is to be highly commended, and is but one more evidence of the character of the people of this town when danger threatens and their assistance is needed. The brigade had no easy job to contend with, especially in running out the hose and making couplings, every available foot being brought into use, and then only by carrying it over the tops of buildings and fences and across lots was there sufficient to reach the burning building. Yet they overcame all obstacles and no one will dispute that had it not been for their good work that the fire would have been much more serious to other homes, and who will venture to say where the destruction might have ended. Those engaged with the chemical engines, as well as those who so steadily worked to protect the roofs of nearby buildings, all deserve credit, also those who so readily assisted in carrying out the furniture from the building and that of neighbors.

Two Real Problems.

There are two important problems which confront every business man today. One is to get customers the other, how to hold customers. Both are of equal importance.

Good business men have spent $500 in travelling expenses in order to get a new customer, and never give the expenditure second thought; and yet the next day would curiously refuse to make a fifty cent adjustment asked by an old customer.

The old customer might quit. "A matter of principle," the boss says, but—if a new customer is worth five hundred dollars isn't the old one worth fifty cents?

The trouble with many of us is that when we get into business we think we no longer have a boss. The fact is that a man working for someone else has one boss, while the man in business has as many bosses as he has customers. The old adage, "The customer is always right," is the better policy.

happened to millions of other people and they have survived, I guess I can.

Most worries are over mere trifles. Probably King Edward's wife worried when he got home late at dinner, but what difference does it make to either of them now?

Get a worry book. Put down in it today everything that worries you. Look at it a week from today. How many things you are worrying about will happen? The longer you keep a worry book the shorter will grow the entries.

You know the old story of Mahomet and the Mountain—when the Mountain wouldn't come to him he, like a sensible man, grabbed his Panama off the hall rack and went to the Mountain—he wanted it bad enough to go after it.

That is precisely the situation today—the Mountain BUSINESS—will not come to you—you will have to go after it hard. You have one big advantage over the Prophet—he had to take the going as he found it—you can pave the way with advertising.

The average home is a sort of a menagerie, says a cynical exchange. Mother is the bear; baby is a lamb; the second boy is a kid; the next is a pig; Aunt Jane is a cat; Cousin Kate is a bird; big sister is a chicken, and of course Dad is the goat.

PRODUCERS AND COMMERCIAL CLASS

In the article which appeared in this space last week we dealt with our Service and Credit System. This week we desire to place ourselves as a business institution before the purchasing public in that we deem the right thing.

Broadly speaking in this district we have two classes, namely, the Producers and the Commercial class. There has been a feeling in existence for sometime in the minds of the producing class, not general, but to a large degree that the commercial class has not been working to their advantage. The outcome of this feeling has been that there has been and is today a lot of money being sent out of this district for merchandise that could have been procured at home with much less trouble and inconvenience, and without extra cost to the producer, and to the benefit of the commercial class.

By benefitting the local town the producers are indirectly participating. Prosperity in or adjacent to a good prosperous town has more value than property adjoining a point of malling. Another feature is that those of you who have sufficient funds to pay cash for your requirements by spending it at home made it easier for the business men to look after the needs of your less fortunate neighbor, who at times requires assistance.

You can readily see that you are thereby contributing to the success of the district and helping to make it more prosperous. That should be good business. Your property will look better if surrounded by well-to-do neighbors, enjoying the same prosperity as yourself, than if adjoined on either sides by broken down outfits.

Here the argument arises: "Oh, yes! You want us to pay for the other fellow's debts!"

No, the appeal we are making is that you buy at home those articles which can be supplied to you at the same cost to you as furnished by the outside concern, and if you bring your list in and check over the prices from the different dealers you will be surprised to find what a large portion of your business you can leave in your own district. Surely this is not an unreasonable request to make that we simply ask to be given a chance on this portion of your business. When asked by a stranger which is your town you say Gleichen, so why not make it your town and use it to your very best advantage. By making Gleichen a thriving trading point it will always be with pride that you refer to it as your town.

We frankly admit that the mail order houses renders a service to a district such as this, in as much as you are able to purchase from them articles not carried in stock by dealers in small towns, this portion of your business we cannot hope nor do we expect to get.

What we would like to create is a closer and better relationship between these two classes on the basis of understanding each other. The comparison between a community like this and a large family is almost the same and we know that a house that is divided against itself cannot stand. That is an old Hebrew law and we believe that their strict adherence to it is largely responsible for the success they have obtained. We as one of the commercial class realize that our interest lie parallel with those of the producer and our constant aim is to work in harmony with them on each and every occasion when given the opportunity.

Let us co-operate to our mutual benefit.

Peter Kelly says that his ad in The Call under the heading Miscellaneous, on all hatching eggs has already resulted in the sale of 34 dozen and he is still selling more.

Corpl. Harper wishes it understood that there's a radio fix, many do not seem to be aware of it and later it will be his duty to collect. Take a friendly warning and pay before you use the air.

That is a big amount E. W. Taylor says his companies have paid out in this district in his ad appearing in this issue.

Howard Bowden, formerly the popular young and handsome clerk for the Gleichen Mercantile Co., returned Monday from a three months vacation at the Pacific coast, to accept a similar position in the Palm Parlor grocery department.

Mr. and Mrs. Walsh wish to express their thanks and appreciation to the Gleichen Fire Brigade and all those who so readily helped at the fire last Wednesday in getting out their furniture and saving their home from destruction.

Howard says he had a great time at the coast and brought back a deal of soldier as evidence he had been down the slope. He was greatly taken with the English Bay mermaids and the quality of beer sold there. As a politician he advises Alberta would do well to copy B. C. liquor laws. His great surprise was while "listening in" over there, Monday week to hear from Gleichen. It was great to hear the market reports, baseball results, but best of all was "Scottie's" solo; if he had not recognized the voice he would have thought it all a joke—this made him homesick and he simply had to return.

The McKay Hardware give some good advice in their ad this week.

Miss E. Fox, of Calgary, announces in this issue that she is here to prepare pupils for the Royal Academy examinations. See her at W. W. Brown's register.

Tuesday Morning The Call man enjoyed the day's feed of muck on this season and they made fine mucking. This is one of the best indications that summer is near at hand and also of good crops to follow.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this opportunity of thanking the citizens of Gleichen for the way in which they turned out and helped us last Wednesday when our home was destroyed by fire. Through their untiring efforts practically everything on the first floor was saved.

We wish to thank the Fire Brigade for the promptness in responding to the alarm and for the very efficient work it did. Words cannot express our gratitude towards the Red Cross Society, the Girls Club and each individual who so generously contributed and gave us shelter and clothing and also assisted in securing us a new home.
